

We can't have another infringement on what larger corporations deem as threatening. Especially when services like this is freely chosen by individuals, and not by someone else.